

How you can help your child?

The most successful children know that their family supports them and shows an interest in their day to day school life. The most important message to give your child is that learning is fun. Most of the learning you can do with your child at this stage in their development is through talking and playing games.

- Talk to your child about what they are learning at school.
- Encourage them to find out things for themselves.
- Read books with your child. Take them to the local library and help them to choose books.
- Let your child help you in the kitchen and when you are doing other work in the home.
- Listen to your child. Encourage them to ask questions. If you do not have the answer, why not find out together?
- Use your local environment.
